Brittany Snow helps a girl get ready for the prom

Getting ready for the prom can be one of the most exciting times for a girl, but what if you can't afford the glitzy gown? DonateMyDress.org is a national network that encourages girls to donate their prom and special occasion dresses to others who need them.

DonateMyDress.org gives girls what they need to attend the big night without having to empty their bank accounts. And a few CGGs are helping too. Brittany Snow (below left) donated her homecoming dress on The Rachael Ray show last week to CosmoGIRL! reader Samantha Danico (below right).

Taylor Swift, Rachel Bilson, and Nikki Blonsky have also been involved in donating.

DonateMyDress.org has twenty-five different dress-donation organizations across the country, along with personal stories from real girls who have benefited from being part of an experience like this.
